

Northern Kentucky University's

Friends of Steely Library

invite you to celebrate Earth Day

with the critically acclaimed nature writer

Rick Bass

Rick Bass is the author of twenty-one books, including The Watch, Where the Sea Used to Be, The Hermit's Story, and Caribou Rising. His stories have been awarded the Pushcart Prize and the O. Henry Award and collected in The Best American Short Stories. His newest story collection, The Lives of Rocks, is forthcoming this fall from Houghton Mifflin. He lives with his family in Montana's Yaak Valley.

---

Saturday, April 22, 2006

Northern Kentucky University

Highland Heights, Kentucky

Dinner ($35 per person includes ticket to reading)

6:00 p.m.

Ballroom (seating is limited)

University Center Second Floor

Public Reading ($15 per person)

7:30 p.m.

Eva G. Farris Auditorium

Business-Education-Psychology Center 200

The reading will be followed by a signing. Many of Rick Bass's books will be available for purchase following the reading.

Please direct inquiries to Angie Gabbard at 859.572.5810 or gabbarda@nku.edu

